ELECTRIC DEPOT IS ERECTED IN LOGAN

In keeping with its faith in the future development of Cache valley and recognizing the present need of more extensive facilities for the handling of its fast increasing volume of business, the Ogden, Logan & Idaho Railway company is erecting a handsome new depot building in Logan, the principal business center between Ogden and Preston, Idaho. The building, when completed, will represent an outlay of approximately $20,000, and will be a splendid addition to Logan's modern business district. It is located on the southwest corner of Main and First South streets, a short distance south of the present O. L. & I. passenger station. The construction work is being done by Dahle & Eccles, contractors, of Logan, under the direction of Architect Leslie S. Hodgson of Ogden.

The building is of the modern American style that is becoming distinctive, particularly in the west, and will be fire-proof. The walls, which are already completed, are of special texture red brick, the product of the Ogden Pressed Brick & Tile company. With gray stone trimmings, and the floors are of concrete, finished with red floor hardener that gives strength and pleasing appearance. Its floor space is 165x103 feet, and this is divided into two main rooms, one 37x66 feet, for general offices, which are to be rented until the business expansion of the company requires their use, a passenger station proper, the floor dimensions of which are 45x66 feet. Fronting on Main street, the passenger station will include a large waiting room, with three entrances, a ticket office, with facilities for the sale of tickets both from the interior, or the Main street side of the waiting room, a news, confectionery and cigar stand, a baggage and express room and the general agent's office. A reinforced concrete marquise, 20x14 feet in dimensions, extends from the main entrance to the edge of the sidewalk and the wall construction includes a seven-foot brick wainscote, with decorations above. The walls are finished with tiffany glaze and are made additionally attractive by ornamental panels.

The lavatories are located on the lower floor with entrances from the waiting room and these are finished with enamel. The stairways throughout the building are of concrete, marble or enamel, the plans calling for the eliminating of woodwork wherever possible.

It is anticipated that the building will be ready for occupancy by September 1st.

FOREST FIRE SCENES TO BE SEEN IN 'MOVIES'

In co-operation with the motion picture theatres of the intermountain region, the forest service is trying out this summer a unique plan for preaching care with fire in the forests. The Ogden office of the service has prepared a large number of motion picture slides, such as those carrying advertising matter, usually shown at the end of a reel while the operator prepares the next "thriller" for projection. These slides show typical national forest scenes with appropriate fire slogans and warnings. While emphasizing the keynote of preventing needless damage from forest fires they are at the same time, however, interesting and wholly enjoyable. Circuits have been arranged to include most of the important towns and cities of Utah, southern Idaho and Nevada.

The forest service is making a special effort to bring home to the public the fact that over half of all forest fires are wholly preventable, if proper care is used with fire in the woods. The co-operation of the picture house operators makes it possible to do this in an interesting and effective manner.

MARRIED WOMAN HAS ASKED FOR HER MAIDEN NAME

The annulment of a marriage solemnized in the heat-famed city of Chicago, March 30, 1898, is sought by Mrs. Rena Siemens of Ogden from her husband, Albert G. Siemens, now residing in the city of San Francisco. Mrs. Siemens alleges her husband deserted and abandoned her in 1913, without her consent and giving no reason for his untimely departure. She does not care to be burdened with his name any longer and asks the court to restore her maiden name, Rena Brooks. There are no little Siemens.

Herman Horn has placed his own interpretation upon the promise to "love, honor and protect for life" Mary Horn made at the time he took her as his lawful wife in 1909. The term "life" constituted five years, according to Horn's martial calculations, because in 1914, he unceremoniously decamped, leaving no provision for the support of his wife. There are no children. The wife has asked the court to obliterate the above vow and all that went before or after it, and order her husband to pay her a reasonable amount of alimony.

Mollie Otelle has filed an answer to the complaint of her husband for a divorce. She denies that he is a citizen of Weber county or even the state of Utah, but says that his home is in the state of South Dakota. She counter-claims that he has never established nor provided a home nor domicile for her since they were married in 1908.

Mrs. Otelle declares that she is now and has always been willing to go to him and live as his wife, but that he would send her far to go on, and shows that he does not want her. She claims that he deserted her several years ago and she has since steadily taken in washing to make her livelihood. The wife asks that the decree be given to her and that she be awarded the custody of two minor children and a reasonable amount of alimony.

CHLORAL HYDRATE IS FOUND IN MAN'S POSSESSION

W. Tracy, a transient, was bound over to the district court this morning, by Municipal Judge George S. Barker to stand trial on the charge of having chloral hydrate in his possession, an indictable misdemeanor. His bail was set at $100. Tracy was taken into custody on the night of July 25th by Patrolman W. L. Moore, on a charge of disturbing the peace, it being alleged that he knocked a man down in front of a lower Twenty-fifth street saloon, shortly before his arrest. He was found guilty of this charge yesterday afternoon, and after being set at liberty was immediately re-arrested on the more serious charge.

Nye's
MEN'S AND BOYS' APPAREL
IN THE ECCLES BUILDING

Moore this morning, was that, while bringing the defendant to the station, he caught him in the act of "ditching" a small bottle of liquid that was afterward analyzed by a local druggist and found to contain chloral. This was placed in evidence. No testimony was introduced by the defense. Attorney George Halverson acted as counsel for the defense and County Attorney Joseph E. Evans conducted the prosecution.

The regular session of the police court proceeded the preliminary hearing of the Tracy case. John Wolf, Alex Hill and Frank Hogan, drunks, were each sentenced to serve five days in jail.

W. F. Newton, who appeared to be on the verge of a physical breakdown, due to a protracted spree, was given ten days under the care of Jailor B. B. Wilson.

Belle Close, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness and, as she had been before the court on a previous occasion, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or to serve ten days in jail.

For operating an automobile without a license number attached, M. Cazier was fined $5. Cazier is employed at a local garage and, in passing sentence, the judge stated that the court could not draw distinctions between the public and the automobile dealers and thought, if anything, that the latter should set the example in complying with the state law concerning the operation of motor vehicles.

W. J. Gavey pleaded guilty to attempted assault and was sentenced to serve five days in jail.

COTTON GLOVES.

Washable fabric gloves, of the cheaper qualities, are quite suitable for sport wear of many sorts. Many women forego gloves almost entirely in summer, but others do not wish to let the hands become sunburned or freckled, and so must need wear gloves whenever they are in the sun. To these, the cheaper fabric gloves should especially appeal. They are cool and wash easily, and are made in attractive colors.

Twenty-five cents is also the price of a set of sixteen napkins and four cloths of fine, soft Japanese paper, suitable for picnics or porch or garden refreshment.
